■ Why did it cause such excitement?

Thank you to everyone who attended our Sports Festival (Danketsu-sai), held on October 16th. We still hear people say that they have never seen such excitement, and we are very grateful for that. It was the biggest success I can remember in my career as a teacher, and what made me happiest was seeing the satisfied looks on the students' faces after it was over and hearing them "It was fun!" At the same time, I would like to look back on how we have been able to get this far and use this experience to move forward into the future.

■ Because you "Participated".

The next day, the whole school had a time to reflect on the experience. During that time, and afterwards, I heard many students say that they felt like their opinions were being heard.

This year's Sports Festival (Danketsu-sai) underwent some significant updates. The addition of new events, the implementation of cheering, the introduction of handmade team flags and accessories, etc., were all ideas conceived by the students, who had been thinking since late May about "what kind of Sports Festival (Danketsu-sai) we wanted to have", and project team made up of volunteer staff.

It took time to organize the committee and recruit volunteers, so that not only children who are good at physical activity and look forward to it, but also those who don't, could play an active role in the preparation stage, but I think it was good that we came together with adults and children to aim for everyone to "participate".

■ Because we all wanted to create it together.

The week before the Sports Day (Danketsu-sai), at the closing ceremony for the first semester (October 14th), we surveyed students about the team homeroom teacher system that was introduced this year. While there were some sharp points that pointed out areas for improvement, such as "I feel like teachers aren't sharing information with each other very well", there were also many comments like the following.

"I was able to choose a teacher to whom I could talk", "It's good that I can interact with a variety of teachers", "Until now, even during our Sports Festival (Danketsu-sai), I felt like other classes were enemies, even if they were in the same color group, but this year, I feel like we are all friends on a regular basis, which is nice".

One of the things I often hear from students is "I want to connect". In reality, they want to connect, not just with their friends, not just with their classmates, not just with group members, but hopefully with the whole school. It may have been the day of the Sports Festival (Danketsu-sai) when they were feeling this way.

I also heard some students say things that impressed me, like how well they pay attention to the adults. "The teachers are a team, too."

Team homeroom teacher system チーム担任制

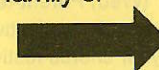

This was a "team" effort that received over 80% positive evaluations (with roughly the same percentage given by faculty and staff).

Currently, we are working on improving learning throughout the school, aiming for "exciting lessons". Rather than relying on the students' motivation, we the teachers, are being asked to think of ways to improve instruction. At the F-0 presentation on November 6th, we hope that you will be able to see some of the results, along with the progress of our students.

It seems there are still spaces available. If you are a family or local member, please join us.

We are look forward to seeing you.

This year all grades will be held at the Miniokamo City Cultural Center 'Kamo~ru'. As a means of transport, we would like to ask parents to take their children to and from school. For families who are unable to pick up and drop off their children, we plan to use the city buses from the school to Kamo~ru. We would also like to allow pupils from nearby areas to travel by bicycle under the responsibility of their parents. Due to the size of the venue, only one parent will be allowed to visit. Please see the recently issued information for further details.
